The future of India and Legal Education belongs here at NLUD. A truly memorable and inspiring institution comprising of the students, academic and leadership.

Prof. Steve K. Ngo- Arbitrator and International Arbitration Consultant, Singapore

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

PROF. (DR.) RANBIR SINGH

Institutions are not market places; neither education is a commodity traded on demand and supply. Institutions are knowledge spaces and education is a value in itself to distinguish between fair and unfair, just and unjust. It has to inculcate values like sacrifice, sensitivity to suffering's, courage to fight for justice and fairness, to stand up for the dispossessed and marginalized, the determination to stand against the odds for the sake of justice.

Legal Education in India has undergone a paradigm shift in the last two decades. The option to study law is by choice rather than by chance, is the essence of this shift. It is not because of one but many factors. The NLUs provide new choice of a career which not only empowers young minds to take up social causes but also the opportunities present in a growing globalized world.

A well-administered and socially relevant legal education is the sine-qua-non for a proper dispensation of justice. The immediate objective of legal education in our country is to produce law graduates equipped with knowledge of substantive and procedural laws, capable of taking active part in the traditional justice delivery system of a State, i.e. proceedings of a Court.

Globalization is a challenge and also an opportunity in the present times. We require the convergence of Economics, Technology and Law. India has a long history of business and technology. The potential has been unleashed through the process of liberalization. Yet the smooth sailing requires the compass called 'Rule of Law'. We have mixed track record on this count. India has established itself as a democracy which is a success on the macro participative process of governance. Yet, there are other crucial issues of internal dimension. There is a complex task of assimilation of the fractured social classes for centuries in such participation. Cumulative economic progress needs to reach the various layers to create a development index which is fair and equitable. Most importantly a transparent and speedy justice administration system which reinforces the faith in Rule of Law.

NLU Delhi seeks to educate lawyers for the 21st century in which legal services are globalized and lawyers need to move with comfort across national boundaries and different legal systems.

NLU, Delhi is committed to uphold the sacred object of imparting 'Legal Education' as 'Justice Education' to transform the young minds as a human resource for providing justice; social, economic and political, the corner stone of India's constitution. The lawyer of tomorrow trained in the law schools of today, has to be an active partner in being an agent of the speedy dispensation of justice, if the manifesto of 'justice to all' and 'equal access to justice' is to become a living reality and not a teasing illusion.

NLU, Delhi has a natural advantage of its location which needs to be synergized to build this young law school achieve greater heights and new benchmarks.

The key to that success is the young aspirant – YOU – who desire to join this University. The transformation of your mind with its limitless potential will make the University a class of its own. This University will aspire to do things differently than doing different things. It is possible only if – YOU – share the dream and passion to achieve it. It is not just YOU – but your parents and other family members who should be with you in this dream. Procuring an admission in this University is not the achievement, but to sustain the goal, learn and unlearn in the journey, to practice the profession with highest ethical standards and to involve proactively in the issues facing the society, is the real achievement. The law programme is just a fuel to ignite the fire in YOU.

I look forward to see you fulfilling the aspirations of the society and the mission of the NLU, Delhi.

Welcome to National Law University, Delhi

REGISTRAR'S MESSAGE

PROF. (DR.) G. S. BAJPAI

Dynamic in vision and robust in commitment, the National Law University Delhi (NLUD) in a very short span of time has shown terrific promise to become a world class institution. Having carved a niche for itself in extending quality education for the undergraduate courses, the University continued to excel in offering the newly introduced one year LL.M programmes as well as PhD. Programme.

I welcome you to become the part of this wonderful journey!!!

'Our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education. The human mind is our fundamental resource.'

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

Though shorter in span, it has been a terrific journey of excellence for the National Law University Delhi (NLUD). Collin Powell comments on this kind of metamorphosis: "If you are going to achieve excellence in big things, you develop the habit in little matters. Excellence is not an exception, it is a prevailing attitude "

The NLUD's march to brilliance is characterized by numerous factors. With a modest beginning in 2008, it has reached to a pinnacle where about seventeen thousand students every year strive for its eighty two seats from across the country and abroad to seek admission leaving many known institutions as only lower preference. The confidence of students and their parents to this University is primarily due to its ability to sustain quality education which is characterized by the quality faculty and students ratio not only in the country but perhaps anywhere in the world (1:8). The NLUD has highly motivated and qualified faculty to guide the students with the help of sophisticated pedagogy in an enabling ambience. The state of art educational technology and well equipped class rooms exist to support the students very effectively.

The NLUD has moved from a mere teaching institution to become a research intensive University and it has set up some exclusive centres for research in various areas. These Centres through their constant engagements have already become known for their contribution to the policy monitoring, training, and consultancies to the stakeholders. As a testimony to this, in less than three years the University got research projects to the tune of some fifteen crores. As research focused University, NLUD becomes distinguished in the class of national law universities in the country. Significant involvement of students to these research centres not only give them opportunity to and exposure to research but also provide a career angel which help them fetching admissions to top class universities in their post-graduation where invariably this kind of experience is valued.

Two more features due to which NLUD become a great choice for the students: it has the advantage of being the capital which bustles with law firms, courts, tribunals and central ministries and other establishment to serve the University well. Besides, the NLUD is perhaps the only institutions which highly generous in funding the students activities of all kinds including hundred percent funding to all the selected students to international mooting competitions. NLUD has several collaborations with most prominent law schools abroad. The NLUD semester abroad students exchange programme is another attraction. The library at NLUD now boasts of having the most exciting collection of book and e-resources including remote access feature with more than fifteen thousand titles that give the students a great ease in their preparation for studies and mooting competition in most comprehensive way.

The NLUD is on the expansion. It has acquired adjoining land of seven acres to create world class infrastructure for sports, academics and residential purposes. Based on its performance, the University was given 'A' grade by the NAAC with a very high score of NLUD believes in socially relevant legal education for empowering the masses to make the society a better place to live. Thomas Jefferson's quote define this value very well when he says: 'Let us in education dream of an aristocracy of achievement arising out of a democracy of opportunity.'

A pleasure to be at your attractive and impressive campus to deliver the Justice Sawhney Oration. My congratulations on your achievements so far and best wishes for the future.

Dr Shashi Tharoor

VISION

Our sincere endeavor will be to make legal education as justice education, as an instrument of social, political and economic change, and to prepare Lawyers who will be competent in the art of advocacy both at the trial, appellate level and also skilled in judicial administration.

The students of the National Law University, Delhi will be shaped as agents of change as the country mandates to achieve its developmental goals for future generations. The primary mission of the University will be to create Lawyers who will be professionally competent, technically sound and socially relevant, and will not only enter the Bar and the Bench but also be equipped to address the imperatives of the new millennium and uphold the Constitutional values.

Globalization is a challenge and also an opportunity in the present times. We require the convergence of Economics, Technology and Law. India had a long history of business and technology. The potential has been unleashed through the process of liberalization. Yet the smooth sailing requires the compass called Rule of Law. We have mixed track record on this count. India has established itself as a democracy which is a success on the macro participative process of governance. Yet, there are other crucial issues of internal dimension.

There is a complex task of assimilation of the fractured social classes for centuries in such participation. Cumulative economic progress needs to reach the various layers to create a development index which is fair and equitable.

Most importantly a transparent and speedy justice administration system which reinforces the faith in Rule of Law.

RANKING

It is hereby notified that the National Law University, Delhi does not participate in any institutional ranking carried out by any News Magazines / Web Portals except in the ranking process of National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) and in the accreditation process of the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC).

NATIONAL LAW UNIVERSITY | DELHI | PROSPECTUS 2017

16 | 17

OVERVIEW

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The University imparts instruction through simulated activities such as moot courts, client interviewing, mediation / conciliation along with other interactive and participatory learning to develop professional skills in the budding lawyers. The faculty advisors act as mentors and counsellors for students in their curricular as well as co-curricular activities.

Study materials accompany instruction in each course to facilitate interactive learning. Instruction is given through lectures, seminars, group and individual tutorials. Skills of reading, research, analysis and writing are developed through project assignments. Collaborative teaching is undertaken in some courses to maximize available expertise and to promote inter-disciplinary learning.

CODE OF CONDUCT AND ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

The University takes a pro-active approach on all matters relating to professional and appropriate code of conduct on the part of the entire University community—students, faculty and non-teaching staff.

All members of the University community will observe decorum in all their relations with each other. The University also recognizes the indispensability of statutory provisions in this regard. In furtherance of its commitment to an environment of honesty, fairness and mutual respect, the University takes serious cognizance of acts of academic / professional misconduct that include cheating in academic exercises, plagiarism, misrepresentation and interference of any kind in the access of fellow students to the University services, among others.

The Code of Conduct and Academic Responsibility consisting of substantive and procedural provisions to sanction disciplinary action against derogatory acts on the part of any member of the University community is a part of its policy.

NLU Delhi's curriculum is inspired by the UGC Curriculum Development

Committee Report to meet the challenges posed by globalization, e-commerce and transnational, legal, social and political issues. It also addresses the concerns of the Indian society like legal literacy, poverty, etc. The Curriculum promotes inter-disciplinary approach with Clinical Legal Education as an integral component of instruction.

The Code of Conduct and Academic Responsibility consisting of substantive and procedural provisions to sanction disciplinary action against derogatory acts on the part of any member of the University community is a part of its policy.

INTERACTIVE FACULTY

Our teachers build bridges for students to support them across trying times both in and out of class. Students can discuss their economic hardships, emotional turmoil, language difficulties, career choices or even counselling for appropriate and reachable career goals. In class, there is a constant dialogue with students on issues of contemporary concern and curricula, constantly matching the changing times. The University has the advantage of inviting the sitting and the retired Judges of Supreme Court, the High Court and also the leading lawyers, academicians and retired Judicial Officers for lectures, seminars and discussions involving the students and the faculty.

IN THE CLASSROOM

Your learning at NLU-Delhi will always be enjoyable and challenging. We have developed modern, progressive teaching techniques, designed to meet the precise needs of international students. We know that when you are working hard and enjoying yourself, you will be learning faster and more effectively.

COLLABORATIONS

The National Law University Delhi is actively exploring the possibilities of signing the MoUs with various Universities/ Institutions of National and International repute to give a global face to the University. MOOT COURT COMMITTEE

The Moot Court Committee is a student elected committee with two members from each batch. The objective of the Committee is to promote and facilitate all moot-related activities in the University. Moot courts serve as a simulation for real court-room proceedings. They teach research, communication skills and thinking on the feet. There are several moot court competitions held in law schools across India and abroad that see participation from many universities. More specifically, the role of the Committee is to, inter alia, facilitate the organisation of moots in the University; implement internal selections to choose individuals who represent the University at various moots across the world; spread awareness of moots and mooting among the student body; and to act as channel between the University Administration and the student body in all matters related to mooting.

Our University has had a stellar record in mooting activities. We have also organised several moot court competitions in our short history of 9 years.

11. 245th Law Commission Report on Arrears and Backlog: Creating Additional Judicial (Wo)manpower (2013-2015)

The CCLPG worked with the Law Commission of India on its 245th report on "Arrears and Backlog: Creating Additional Judicial (Wo) manpower." This report was prepared on the directions of the Supreme Court in Imtiyaz Ahmad v. State of UP, AIR 2012 SC 642, to analyse the state of pendency and arrears in courts across the country and recommend suggestions for reform.

12. Report on Process Re-engineering in The Criminal Justice System (2014-15)

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy & Governance (CCLPG) provided assistance to the Law Commission of India and the E-Committee of the Supreme Court on necessary amendments to be made to rules of criminal courts in order to facilitate usage of technology to make the systems more efficient, accessible and transparent.

13. Prisoners' Rights Manual (2015-2017)

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance collaborated with The Human Rights Law Network (HRLN) to revise and update HRLN's Prisoners' Rights Manual. The manual was published in January 2017. Spread over two volumes, the manual covers various rights concerns faced by prisoners including those related to fair trial, bail, inhuman and degrading conditions in prisons etc. It also provides a ready reference material for lawyers and civil society organizations working on the issue of prisoners' rights.

14. Submission to Law Commission's 268th report on Bail Law Reforms (2016-17)

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance (CCLPG) was approached by the Law Commission of India for research inputs/submissions for its report on bail law reforms. The work involved examining the desirability of having a separate Bail Act, keeping in view, the similar provisions in the United Kingdom and other countries. An in-depth study of the laws and practice relating to bail laws in India was conducted. The Law Commission has acknowledged the Centre's contribution in this regard, in its report. The project was undertaken by Dr. Aparna Chandra, Research Director of the Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance, and Ms. Keerthana Medarametla, Senior Research Fellow at the Centre.

15. The Daksh-NLU Rule of Law Project (2016-17)

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance collaborated with Daksh India in its "Rule of Law" project which studies the problem of judicial delay; particularly the pendency of cases within the Indian legal system. The project uses publicly available data pertaining to court cases to build a user friendly database. The Centre collaborated with Daksh on analysis of data available with Daksh, aiming to provide data-driven inputs into debates and discourses around judicial reform in India. Dr. Aparna Chandra, Research Director of the Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance led the project, along with Research Fellows at the Centre.

16. Project on Empirical analysis of Supreme Court Decisions

This research project funded by the University of Chicago is a collaboration between Dr. Aparna Chandra, Prof. Sital Kalantry (Cornell Law School) and Prof. William Hubbard (University of Chicago Law School). The project entails an empirical analysis of the functioning of the Indian Supreme Court by examining all reported decisions of the court in the period 2010-2015 to understand the kind of cases coming before the court, the parties who are approaching the Court, the nature of reliefs being sought etc.

17. CLPG-Delhi High Court Legal Services Committee (DHCLSC) Prisons Project - Phase I

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance is collaborating with the Delhi High Court Legal Services Committee to work on projects that involve studying under-trial incarceration in Delhi, preparing periodic reports on the status of each case, documenting the causes of delay, compliance with guidelines and laws, and availability of bail for the person. In the first phase of this project, the Centre is studying incarceration under The Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act. The Centre will also prepare a policy proposal based on these cases highlighting systemic concerns and blockages in the Criminal Justice System.

18. CLPG- Delhi High Court Legal Services Committee (DHCLSC) Prisons Project - Phase II

In the second phase of the CLPG-DHCLSC Prisons Project, the Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance is studying cases of all persons who are currently incarcerated for a continuous period of 3 years, without being released on bail (other than interim bail for a few days). The project looks at individual cases in the prison that needs assistance with legal aid and also aims at understanding the nature and causes of delay in the legal processes. Both the phases of the project are being funded by the Delhi High Court Legal Service Committee.

19. Hanging in the balance: Arbitrariness in death penalty adjudication in India (1950-2013)

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance is to undertake an empirical analysis of all cases dealing with capital offences decided by the Supreme Court of India from 1950 to 2013. The study covers all cases where death penalty was an option, regardless of whether the same was finally imposed. The study analyses these cases along various parameters, in order to understand the extent and influence of these parameters in sentencing decisions of the court. Data and preliminary finding on these issues for the period between 2000-2013 was made available to the Law Commission of India which cited this data in its report, in support of its conclusion that the death penalty should be abolished.

20. Fair Trial Manual

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance (CCLPG) is collaborating with the Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative (CHRI) to revise and update the 2010 edition of CHRI publication- "Fair Trial Manual: A Handbook for Judges and Magistrates". The manual discusses how human rights jurisprudence influences the administration of criminal justice and provides ready reference material on the different elements of a fair trial. Dr. Mrinal Satish is taking the lead on this project.

21. Report on Surrogacy Law and Practice

The Centre for Constitutional Law, Policy and Governance (CCLPG) in collaboration with Prof. Sital Kalantry, Cornell Law School taught a seminar course on "Transnational Human Rights Law," the focus of which was on the issue of surrogacy. The course was listed both at NLU Delhi and Cornell Law School and weekly classes were held using videoconferencing facilities. Students and the faculty members also conducted week-long field work in Delhi and Anand, Gujarat in April 2017. The course culminated in two policy reports – one for the New York legislature which is currently debating a bill to legalise commercial surrogacy, and the second, on the Surrogacy Regulation (Bill), 2016 that is pending before the Indian Parliament. Dr. Aparna Chandra and Dr. Mrinal Satish have been invited by the Parliamentary Standing Committee to make a presentation on the Bill before them.

The future of India and Legal Education belongs here at NLU. Its a truly memorable and inspiring institution comprising of the students, academic and leadership.

LEGAL SERVICES COMMITTEE

Legal Clinic - Legal Aid Services

National Law University, Delhi shares a broader vision of justice education and weaves public interest work into regular curriculum to prepare students as agents of social change. The University provides Legal Aid Services with an objective to facilitate access to justice to the poor and marginalized and provide legal aid services to make right to legal aid as a reality.

The Legal Aid committee consisting of students and faculty coordinator has been constituted to promote legal aid services by the students. The committee is currently working towards proposing a revival of the existing legal aid clinic at the University and conducting legal awareness camps. It also aims to create an online forum to enable legal aid societies across law schools in India to come together, share experiences, bring about collaborative efforts and grow from the same.

Over the years, the Legal Aid Committee at National Law University, Delhi has been involved in fostering legal aid and awareness. While previously the focus was on spreading awareness about rights and facilitating access to courts, from this year the Committee has expanded its domain to ensure access to government institutions.

The Committee is presently undertaking a Project on 'Compensation for Sewerage Deaths' in association with the Safai Karamchari Andolan (SKA) that aims to identify the families of deceased sewerage workers and to help them claim compensation from the Government of NCT of Delhi as per the Supreme Court's orders in the case of Safai Karamchari Andolan v. Union of India in March 2014.

The Committee has also established a fully functional Legal Aid Clinic in the University premises to pursue cases of people from nearby community, seeking legal counsel. A Legal Aid lawyer from the Delhi State Legal Services Authority visits the clinic every week to deal with various grievances addressed to the clinic. The members of the Committee help the lawyers with these cases.

I express deep gratitude to you and your staff for most fruitful and generous meeting. We greatly appreciate your time and hospitality.

Chief Justice Nancy V. Alquist,
US
